Mayor Nichols Put on Grill

CALL 'HUSBAND-STEALER' WOMAN SHOOT TO ACQUISIT

Copyright, 1929, King Features Synd., Inc.
The PRESIDENT of the Federal Reserve Bank, established to prevent panic, should start modest little panics of its own, is not what the public anticipates.
However, the Federal Reserve is controlled, as many things are, by well-organized finance, and if it says the little speculators must get out of the market, THEY MUST GET OUT.
The little fish that took a deep breath for the first time in 48 hours when stocks went up from 1 to 15 points yesterday may thank Charles E. Mitchell, head of New York's National City Bank. According to Cyrus K. Curtis, Charles E. Mitchell should be credited with easing the market.

Washington says President Hoover intends to be the boss of his party. He might well, since he has him 22,000,000 votes. Republicans of the South are told the Republican party must be reconstructed there on a sound, permanent basis, on the assumption that the war is past and forgotten, and that the South will join Republican prosperity, if the Republicans behave themselves.

Selling federal officers to the highest bidder is to be stopped. "Some Congressmen insist that President Hoover must write a farm relief bill and let the party pass it. The President will probably say, 'No, you write it and pass it. If it isn't too foolish, I will sign it.'"
It is not easy to confer to a disorganized industry, millions of men on millions of farms, producing without method or plan, the prosperity enjoyed by well-organized, quantity-production industry that pays good dividends.

Frederick H. Ecker, having for many years borne the brunt of management in the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, now become general, succeeding the late Haley Flake.

Mr. Ecker, who handles hundreds of millions every year for Metropolitan policyholders, has been with the company since he was a boy.

This should convince young men that it is not a job to be despised, and to which to refer to as the right job.

In Illinois, the state prohibition enforcement is taken seriously. Local "dry" agents turned into a mob, battered his head with the stock of a gun, shot his wife and knocked over his leg, his year old wife, who was in the hospital.

Laws should be enforced, but as far as possible prohibition agents should avoid shooting women when they break into houses, especially if they have no positive proof of law breaking.

The issue between S. W. Straus and local authorities at Palm Beach concerning property purchased by Mr. Straus interests all Florida property owners, particularly those with property for sale.

Mr. Straus, with $5,000,000 invested in the Alva Hotel at Palm Beach, required for his guests a suitable bathing beach and paid Mr. Replogle $500,000 for his villa on the seashore.

After Mr. Straus had purchased the estate the Palm Beach Council passed a zoning ordinance forbidding Mr. Straus to put the beach which he had bought and paid for at the disposal of the guests of the Alva Hotel.

This is exactly as though after Mr. Straus bought the Replogle house the local council had passed an ordinance forbidding him to enter it or sleep in it.

Such an ordinance will not stand, since there are higher courts that realize the importance of protecting property values.
It would be well, however, for Palm Beach to find a way out acceptable to Mr. Straus. The suppression should not be allowed that when you buy a piece of land in Florida you can pass an ordinance local council passes an ordinance destroying the property's value.
Florida's common sense will adjust this matter.

FEDERAL SAY SCHOOL ATTORNEY PROBE ON POLITICS

Washington, March 25 (INS)—A nation-wide survey and investigation of the work of district attorneys has been undertaken by the Department of Justice, it was announced today by Atty. Gen. Mitchell.

The investigation was ordered by President Hoover, with a view to determining, Mitchell said, the effectiveness of law enforcement in various districts and to determine also whether changes of personnel are needed.

The reference to "changes of personnel" was taken to mean that the administration is not satisfied with conditions in some localities and that there may be some shake-ups.

BIGGEST CIGAR VALUE PIPPINS

The Boston School Committee was accused of dabbling in politics today by two speakers appearing before the legislative committee on cities in opposition to the bill which would suppress the present school board's political activities.

Several hundred persons interested in the bill affecting the school boards crowded into the hearing room today at the hearing.

New Chance to Read Coolidge's Story

The Boston Evening American comes to the rescue of thousands of disappointed New Englanders who applied too late for a copy of the April Cosmopolitan magazine with ex-President Calvin Coolidge's own story.

Although an enormous demand for this number of the Cosmopolitan, carrying Coolidge's first installment of a remarkable story, had been expected, even the far-sighted editor, Ray Long, failed to reckon with the long shot of the largest of probable circulation.

How many throughout the entire country were disappointed cannot be known.

RUM DRUNK BY CONGRESSMEN ON JUNKET

New York, March 28 (INS)—Congressman La Guardia, New York, made no bones today of the fact that he had liquor in his possession when he boarded the Panama liner Cristofal to return to this port with 14 others in a congressional party, one of whom, Congressman William M. Morgan, alleged to have landed with four bottles of liquor. Morgan, a prohibition leader, flatly denied the charge.

But Congressman La Guardia had no scruples about admitting that he started from Haiti with a pretty fair supply of booze.

"I don't know anything about Congressman Morgan's case," said La Guardia, "but I do know that none of us was entitled to free entry."

Thief Gets One Man's Goat, Another's Hens

Somebody got the goats of Anthony Barboni of 81 Keyne st., North Rivers, at about the same time that some of the chickens of Joseph Cobonwagata of Fairview Parkway, in the same section were stolen, the Westchester police were notified today.

In both instances doors were wrenched from pins and automobile tire marks were found.

Barboni reported that 25 prize goats were taken from his premises sometime after midnight, as he had visited the animals shortly before that hour. Cobonwagata said his prize broilers, valued at $125, Henry Tracy was assigned to the cases.

LAMONT SEES BOOMING YEAR FOR BUSINESS

Washington, March 28 (INS)—Stock market activities, even with a big recession in values, should have no effect on commerce and industry, Secretary of Commerce Lamont declared today in predicting that American business in 1932 will show no slackening off from the remarkable records of last year.

"While Lamont anticipated a serious crash in the stock market, he appeared not to be particularly concerned with that phase of the economic situation so far as productive industry was involved."

"Business is in strong hands," Lamont said. "It is well fortified and is so strongly entrenched as not to be affected by the borrowing of money, except for certain seasonal requirements, but are well financed on their own accounts."

Lamont is impressed with the probability of greater domestic business and foreign trade. He anticipated that exports and imports for 1932 would exceed those of 1931, when the total trade amounted to $2,110,000,000. Both imports and exports are now on the upgrade and there is no prospect of a $100,000,000 foreign trade this year.

No so-called "saturation point" is in sight in the automobile industry, which showed a 50 per cent increase over last year for passenger and 100 per cent for trucks, Lamont declared.

50,000,000 TONS OF ICE JAM

Bismarck, N. D., March 28 (AP)—Army engineers in charge of efforts to break the ice jams in the Missouri river north of here, figured today that 50,000,000 tons of ice are obstructing the flow of the river. The ice is estimated to be 20 miles in length.

While gauge readings here indicated that the high water mark of the river had been passed, downstream the level was higher than at any other time since the spring freshet.

A thousand pounds of dynamite were exploded and army officials declared that operations must be continued, and unless the work is speeded the flow of water may be blocked for days.

Electricians Ask for 5-Day Week

Members of Greater Boston Electrical Workers' Local 103, through their wage scale committee, demand a wage of $1.50 an hour and a five-day week of 40 hours to become effective on July 1. The contract under which the electricians are now working calls for a wage of $1.37 1/2 an hour and a five-day week.

According to the agreement with the Greater Boston Electrical Contractors' Association, either side must present any desired change in existing contract 30 days prior to the expiring contract. The local wage scale committee was at work on a tentative agreement which they will present to the contractors' association on or before April 1.

HISTORIAN PUTS PROHIBITION IN WITCH-BURNING CLASS

The evils that have followed in the wake of American prohibition laws have killed in France the movement against alcohol which was strong and widespread before the war.

So great has been the failure of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act to bring about temperance in America, that even the staunchest of French teetotalers on the Continent are alarmed at the thought of similar prohibition enactments being tried in their country.

So declares Prof. Bernard Fay, French historian, in the current number of "The Yale Review." Prof. Fay is a member of the faculty of the University of Clermont-Ferrand, and the author of "The Revolutionary Spirit in France and America at the end of the Eighteenth Century," considered by the Pulitzer prize committee of 1925 the "most worthy book on American history."

ARE ALARMED

Of interest to the thousands of contestants who have already submitted their plans for a legally workable and socially acceptable substitute for prohibition, and to readers of the Hearst newspapers from coast to coast who are watching the progress of the $25,000 temperance contest, is Prof. Fay's keen analysis of the difference in the American and French temperance movements as regards prohibition. He writes, in part:

"Prohibition shows better than any other experiment how deep is the difference in the French and American attitude toward virtue. It would be near the truth to say that American prohibition has killed in France the movement against alcohol which was strong and widespread before the war. Even teetotalers in the old world are alarmed and disturbed when American prohibition is mentioned."

LIKE THEIR WINE

"The idea of a government taking upon itself to change the drink of a nation because it may hurt a part of the population to absorb too large a quantity of it seems to Frenchmen of the twentieth century just as objectionable as the English Puritan witch-burning, or the revocation of the Edict of Nantes—and a good deal more futile. They feel that they have a right to eat and drink what they like just as Americans feel that they have a right to be able to become President of the United States."

The French are not ashamed of caring for their food and wine, but they are not especially eager to own an automobile, whereas Americans generally find it undignified to get excited about prohibition, but would resent merely being deprived of their car, and think logical to work very hard to buy new one periodically."

Views of prominent Americans of the prohibition question follow: REV. WENONAH STEVENS A. BOTT, Beverly—There, now, was a time when it took more courage to be decent, but it is not worth while to dare to do the which should be done. We cannot expect to make conduct right until we make conditions right.

As mother and minister, I heartily approve of Mr. Hearst's attempt to educate the public, a realization that the relationship between prohibition and temperance is not that of teetotalism. Governments are like individuals in that they make mistakes. None should insist that erroneous legislation is unchangeable as the laws of the Medes and Persians. The Volstead Act can and should be reinterpreted.

AMERICAN URGES U. S. INCOME TAX CUT

The Federal income tax law was tucked in Vienna language by the U. S. Daily of 2 Boston st., widely known Boston lawyer, who is of the opinion that an immediate revision should be made of the law of those who earn their incomes. "I have read with much interest in various articles relating to a proposed revision of the federal income tax, with particular reference to earned incomes," said Attorney Daly.

"There can be no doubt in the mind of the average working man, whether he be a bricklayer, dentist, lawyer or physician, that the present federal income tax law, in its application, is unfair and unjust to the workers of this country."

"I believe there should be an upward revision of federal taxes on earned income at once. The 20 per cent deduction now allowed by the government on earned income, is a recognition of the principle that earned income should not be taxed in the same manner as investment income, but I do not go far enough."

CAUTION EXERCISED

"More recognition of the principle is not sufficient. Application of the principle is a generous manner is what is needed. Extension of the principle, by granting deductions of 50 or 75 per cent instead of 20 per cent, is what should occur in order that the people may be relieved of the present burden."

"Much has been written and said about the matter of exemptions allowable on children. The present allowance of $500 on every child up to the age of 18, is ridiculous. The framers of that clause must have been single men or must have lived where children go barefoot and partly clad all the year, if they believe a child can be supported in this country today on $500 a year."

"Anyone who knows anything about the girl in high school, and I say knows that $500 will not pay for her upkeep."

"If the framers of that clause think the high school girls of today wear better stockings and other inexpensive clothes, let them stand on the sidewalk near a school and watch these girls pass in to their studies. And it's a good thing that the American standard of living is as high as it is. Who would want to go back to the days of the Pilgrims?"

HOPES FOR RELIEF

"The $500 exemption should be doubled or tripled when the child reaches high school or college age, and the 18-year age limit should be extended to at least 21 years, the limit to which parents are forced by law to care for the offspring."

"The government should be fair and generous about such matters. The national lawmakers should not be considering war and means of spending as much as possible from the pocket-book of the worker."

"Discontent is general now because of this unfair taxation, and I sincerely hope the officials at Washington will adjust matters without delay. This proposed revision of the Federal Income Tax Law is long overdue."

'BIG BUSINESS' PASSES UP FARM RELIEF

Washington, March 28 (NBS)—Apparently taking a hint from President Hoover, "big business" today appeared to be passing the buck back to Congress on federal farm relief legislation.

The annual session of the Senate agriculture committee in asking a number of the nation's wealthiest financiers, capitalists and industrialists to help draft a new farm bill met with such courteous excuses or a wall of silence. Among those invited were Henry Ford, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., sent in his declaration today to appear before the Senate committee and give his farm views and it was added to similar polite declarations previously received from J. P. Morgan, Owen D. Young, Paul M. Warburg and Charles M. Schwab.

Rockefeller telegraphed his thanks today to the committee for inviting him, but said:

"Much as I would like to be of service to your committee, never having made a study of the problem and never having had any first hand knowledge of them, I am afraid I am not equipped to render service."

Schwab telegraphed that "if his health permitted he had engaged to go in New York" which would prevent his coming to Washington.

Washington, March 28 (AP)—Capt. Allen Buchanan, acting officer of the cruiser Omaha, has been appointed naval aide to President Hoover.

Agent to 'Wean' Indians Sought by Sec. Wilbur

Washington, March 28 (AP)—Secretary Wilbur is looking for a man for commissioner of Indian affairs who will be so able in the position, he will work himself out of a job.

Secretary Wilbur has remarked that "it is time for the Indian to be weaned."

"It is dangerous for a child to continue nursing too long," the secretary said. "It is also just as dangerous for the nurse. The thing to do is to hand it a pick, and let it howl."

It is the belief of the Interior Department that an Indian properly trained and then assisted in obtaining work where this training can be utilized, will no longer present any problem to the government.

Ottawa, March 28 (NBS)—The vote subject of the sinking of the Canadian ship Im Alone by U. S. Coast Guardmen off New Orleans may be brought upon the floor of the Canadian Parliament when it resumes sessions after the Easter recess, members of the opposition and independent members of Parliament indicated today.

Meanwhile the government is waiting reports on the sinking from Ambassador Mackay before any action is taken or official announcement made.

Says Women Are Key to Liquor Problem

WOMEN hold the key to the liquor situation in America today, according to Mrs. John D. Sherman of Dover, past president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, at the Women's Republican Club dinner.

"Women can do more to wipe out liquor traffic than any law can," she said, "by limiting in refusing to allow it to enter their homes or to attend any function where it is served." She said, "They can take matters into their own hands with the backing of every law enforcement officer in the country behind them. It is time for every citizen to help President Hoover in his law enforcement campaign."

Mrs. Sherman was in Boston at first hand about the recent Youth Conference, sponsored by the Massachusetts State Federation, which has interested clubwomen throughout the country. She is now chairman of the American Home Department of the General Federation and as such received the story of the conference from its originator and chairman, Mrs. A. M. Hume of Melrose, at a luncheon given her by Mrs. Arthur D. Potter, Massachusetts director.

State Federation director and council members were invited to meet the visitor.

"I think it was a very fine piece of work," Mrs. Sherman commented. "In the last analysis the American can home department of any club is organized chiefly for the young women. It is of no special benefit to women with grown families but can mean much to young house makers who wish to be interested."

She thoroughly believed in the young people of today and always defended them when they are criticized by older people. "We can learn much of value from them," Mrs. Sherman said and just left a joint conference of 600 Maine State Federation clubwomen working out an American home program with the State University at Orono.

This was the first time they had ever done this," Mrs. Sherman reported. "And it just shows the new influence of young people on women's clubs. It is a new thing and should be a very reassuring one to critics."

Our young people want to make their homes better and their family life finer.

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, first vice-president of the General Federation, was honor guest and speaker at the dinner.

BIENNIAL HOSTESSES

Mrs. Walter A. Hall, with district director, is chairman of the committee on hotel reservations for delegates to the biennial council meeting in May and all district directors will arrive at the hotel.

Mrs. Edward H. Bugge of Brookline is chairman of the transportation, and Miss Mary P. O'Neill of Lynn, and Mrs. Frank Simpson and Mrs. Frederick W. Collier of Swampscott will meet guests arriving by train at Lynn and Swampscott.

Approve Plan for Flood Protection

The legislative committee on state administration reported a resolution for the further improvement of the Connecticut river for flood protection. The resolution authorizes the commissioner of public works to co-operate, if he deems advisable, with the local authorities of Springfield, Northampton, Chicopee, Holyoke, West Springfield, Hartford, South Hadley and Agawam, and with the War Department, for the purpose of procuring the enactment by Congress of legislation to improve flood protection on the river.

Summer Residents Arrive in Boston

The advance guard of the New England "summer people" are arriving in this city. They are people who have summer places on the North and South shores of Massachusetts, as well as in Maine and New Hampshire, and each year they come early in the season to look over their places and as to get them in readiness for the coming season.

At one hotel it was reported that seven guests, some from the Middle West and California, were en route to Maine, while other hotels had small parties. Hotel men regard this early influx as one of the first signs of spring.

FAR-SEEING PARENTS ALREADY PLANNING 'DEB DATES' FOR DAUGHTERS STILL IN THE SCHOOLGIRL STAGE

Ballrooms Engaged for Times as Dis- tant as December of Next Year, Says Betty Alden

MANAGING MAMMAS AND PROUD PAPAS OF FUTURE DEBUTANTES in this day of rapid movement certainly believe in taking time for the future. For the belle-to-be the year 1929 scarcely has moved into the calendar and begun its swing toward a distant December than the year 1930 becomes of importance in making up the "Debutante Calendar." And even 1931 has its place in the calculations of those who have a daughter to introduce and desire to send the dear young thing on her way rejoicing, properly attuned to make the social entry via a brilliant ball.

Several of these affairs are to be given in the Hotel Somerset ballroom.

NEXT YEAR ASSUMES FOR THE HENRY B. SAWYER FAMILY more than the aspect of a New Year that will arrive eventually. It will be the coming-out year of a young daughter, Miss Elizabeth Sawyer, who will be launched at a large ball in the Hotel Somerset's rose and gold ballroom.

And even so far in advance the all-important date is set for December 5, although, of course, there may be a change in the plan before 1929 has ended its cycle and 1930 has arrived at its final month.

MISS ELIZABETH SCOTT MAKES HER CURTSY WITH THE 1930 set. And already knows exactly what evening will find her at the Hotel Somerset, radiant in presentation gown and all splendor with excitement and the never-to-be-forgotten thrill that accompanies the experience. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Scott look favorably upon the third day of December in 1930, and down into the engagement books may go this all important date.

The evening Mrs. Chandler Hoover enacts for Miss Elizabeth Sawyer is January 7, 1930, and so makes sure of the weekly undergraduate influx from across the river, that the stag line may be impressive and massively bold and white.

BRILLIANTLY WILL THE DEBUTANTE PYROTECHNICS in reputation when the next season is on, and Miss 1929-30 assumes the very center of the social spotlight that is so undeniably here. And which she fills with charm and grace. Perhaps one of the most important young girls to be launched on the turbulent social sea is the Samuel Cabot's daughter, Miss Helen Cabot. The Cabot ball at the Hotel Somerset will be the sort of occasion to fill the girl chambers with the most delightful and romantic, a ball for the older generations to put in an appearance until the supper hour leaves the ballroom floor for the younger set's lively tempo.

FOR MISS 1929-30 THE ENGAGEMENT BOOK THAT GROWS each passing season to more impressive proportions will be dotted with so many large balls, contemplation of them may well render the future debutante dry. And reader pater familias nimb the region of the pocketbook, so many and so varied must be the costumes for daughter's adornment. One of the early guns of a heavy season will be a double function, a ball given by Mrs. Chandler Bullock of Worcester for Miss Edith N. Bullock and Miss Helen Brewer.

THERE IS A SUBDEBUTANTE IN THE J. GARDNER BRADLEY family, that important connection is looking into the future and really dressing for Miss Mabel Bradley. This youthful daughter of Bostonian pride and place will have her presentation ball at the Somerset, where youth will dance and sup and generally have a Young Settlely merry on the evening of Nov. 14. Likewise concerned with the "date" and its setting, and choosing the Somerset for their ball, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Porter present their second daughter, Miss Dorothy Porter, on Nov. 25, via a large ball.

AND GLITTERINGLY IMPORTANT WILL BE THE BALL AT the Somerset arranged with acal and full panoply of armor.

Have you all of your own teeth?

Unless you take preventive measures now, the day is coming when you may know, to your sorrow, that the true meaning of the phrase "artificial denture" is often the extravagant price of self-neglect—false teeth. Here's the reason and the way to help safeguard health against the coming of this day.

Teeth are only as healthy as the gums. And gums, undernourished and over-exercised, soon surrender to dread diseases that ravage health and often destroy teeth. To prevent this, avoid removal of the teeth that modern dentistry offers. Place yourself in the hands of your dentist at least twice a year. And brush your gums when you brush your teeth, every morning and night.

But for this purpose—use Forhan's for the Gums... the dentifrice designed to help firm gums and keep them sound, thus protecting them from the attack of disease.

Use Forhan's regularly. You'll be delighted with the way it makes your gums look and feel. In addition, you'll notice that it effectively and safely cleans teeth and helps to protect them from decay. Get a tube of Forhan's today!

gonessees for Miss Barbara Wendell, who will be brought home from Chicago to meet her own contemporaries and the older generations. Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Jr. (Barbara Hugginson), can claim kinship with every aristocratic line in town, so there'll be no dearth of blue blood and family prestige when the lights are on and the band is playing on the evening of Nov. 14. And when an artist of the Joseph Lindon Smith stamp has a daughter to present and comes to Boston to do it, then is there great rejoicing.

WHEN THERE IS A FAMILY OCCASION DEMANDING ARTISTIC inspiration and clever decorations to give it a particular place in the social chronicle, then does Mr. Smith step forth and do something superlatively original. This year, on the evening of Dec. 3 there'll be a very special ornament to adorn the Somerset's ballroom, and to delight the Joseph Lindon Smith guests who dance and sup in honor of Miss Lois Smith. Like Miss Wendell, Miss Smith comes back to a familiar environment and to hosts of admiring friends to make her curtsy. For several years the Smiths have domiciled themselves in New York and Boston has known them only intermittently.

Elizabeth Sawyer, Helen Cabot and Elizabeth Scott Among Sub-Debs to Be Presented

THE STAR DUST OF SOCIAL PROMINENCE IS SCATTERED glintingly over the evening of Dec. 6 when Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sturgis Grew present a daughter, Miss Ethel Grew, and so have taken the ballroom of the Hotel Somerset and will do the occasion handsomely. Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKay Frost's daughter, Miss Mary Frost, comes out formally on Nov. 15, one of the balls that lends glamour to the opening of the coming season. The Julian Coolidges have taken the evening of Nov. 4 for their daughter, and Mrs. Langdon Frothingham has Dec. 17 for Miss Ann Frothingham.

EARLY TO ARRIVE ON THE SOCIAL SCENE WILL BE MISS ANNE CHANNING, for whom Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Channing have taken Oct. 31 and the lovely Louis XVI ballroom. Other names scattered through the debutante index indicating dotting parents or interested relatives doing the handsome thing for a darling bud are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Warner, Mrs. Charles Jackson, Mrs. John Patton, Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird. Dates are yet not absolutely taken, but the possibilities seem interestingly large, and will each be another cause for rejoicing in the heart of Miss Debutante, for whom the 1929-30 spotlight will flicker.

AGE 9 to 13 and smart

DON'T think for a minute that youngsters of 9 to 13 don't think about style! They not only think about it...they know about it!

Fortunately for both parents and ourselves we know about style, too.

We want to help parents by providing shoes that are going to prove helpful to the normal development of the young foot, just as we have for so many years in the past.

And we're quite familiar with the pale of disgust that would pass over the modern child's face were one to attempt to put a shoe with an "orthopedic-look" on their feet.

So, if we may lapse in the vernacular of the day, we've outsmarted these smart children. We've retained the features of foot health that Coward Shoes have always had...and we've given them (with distinction, too) the good style they quite properly insist upon.

Cardigan's Loves

WINIFRED VAN DUZER

Six-Day Novel by a Famous Author

Cardigan, a scientist, knowing bugs but not girls, is left twenty million dollars by his uncle provided he marries before his thirtieth birthday, less than a year away. Jeremiah Qates, executor, browbeats Cardigan into an experiment to find a wife to fulfill the requirements of the will. Fifty thousand dollars is to be put into the hands of Emily Van Dorn, impoverished society girl. If she fails the test, three allotments of fifty thousand dollars each are to be given Pay Sinclair, actress; Alice Miller, shop girl, and Miss Noel de Minton, concert pianist. Cardigan with fifty thousand left, and moved by a quixotic impulse, opens a bank account with this for his secretary, Joan Madden, who has the look of a wild rose and the disposition of a cactus.

Emily Van Dorn turns Roman when wealth makes her independent of conventions. She moves into a Greenwich Village apartment, refuses to marry Cardigan, but offers to enter into a free love pact.

Cardigan, seeing Pay Sinclair on the stage, is bewitched by her charm.

CHAPTER 4

THE room was drenched with light and Cardigan paused. Cardigan was of the impression that the dazzling brightness stirred with a swirling motion and that this radiance advanced upon him and somehow crept into his arms.

"Peter! I thought you'd forgotten me, Peter!"

"Why little Fay! It is really you!" For he found in this glorious girl, all luminous with beauty and life, more than a trace of the wistful youngster who had donned starched gingham and soiled slippers and made valies and breathed entreaties over a cheap new lamp. Even her contours looked different, but perhaps that was because she scintillated so, was so exultantly conscious of her own charm.

"Aren't you going to kiss me, Peter?" She put her hands on either side his head, drew him little-girl kiss. That at least had not changed!

But the next minute she tumbled on the floor garments which the maid had stacked neatly, and kicked them out of the way with airy unconcern so she and Peter might, as she told him, sit side by side. Alas for order, for housewifely thrift! Had $50,000 all so soon put extravagance into that pale shining head?

"Think of it, Peter! All that's happened to me! I felt it sometimes, a sort of moving around—in here." She touched her heart solemnly. "Something coming alive—"

Fay was above extravagance! Above mere things—garments, lamps, what money would buy. She was poised upon the heights, her hands filled with glory. She was the artist who knew only art.

"You're glad for me, Peter? You are glad?" So naively selfish, the blessed girl, Cardigan said with a twinkle in his eyes, "You'll know triumph now, youngster. Have it to remember when you stroll under the cedars and love the spilled paint box. In your pink dress!"

She was glancing through a sheaf of telegrams, glowing at their messages of praise. "So

SPECIAL JURY TO TRY INTO DRY MURDER

Aurora, Ill., March 28 (INS)—Foundation was being laid today for a special grand jury investigation of the dry raid in which Mrs. Joseph De King was shot to death, her husband clubbed unconscious and their 12-year-old son so "terrorized" that he shot one of the intruding officers.

Attorneys Robert A. Milroy and A. J. Kelley, representing the De King family, and backed by many prominent Aurora citizens, are leading the fight to take the investigation out of the hands of State's Attorney George Carberry, who, the De King lawyers assert, has indicated a prejudiced attitude against their clients.

From a preliminary examination of Mrs. De King's body Dr. Springer, former police criminologist, acting as coroner's physician, said today he believed the woman had been killed as she sat in a chair talking over the telephone, as corroborated by the family.

Deputy sheriff said she was killed when she seized a weapon. Three deputy sheriffs forced their way into the De King home and found a jug of wine in the basement," attorneys for the family said.

The King drove the deputies out at the point of a gun, permitting one to stay and drink wine with him while they discussed the situation.

The two deputies went to Geneva for reinforcements. They came back wearing bullet-proof vests and carrying machine guns, repeating shotguns and tear gas bombs.

Ray Smith, a deputy sheriff and motorcycle policeman, snatched up behind the King, snatched over the King's head, and shot Mrs. De King, who was telephoning attorney Milroy for help, and narrowly missed killing the boy, Gerald.

Then, while Mrs. De King was crawling on the floor and gasping for breath, one of the other deputies fired a shot at the boy.

LOUGHRAN IS SLIGHT FAVORITE

Battlers Confident; Walkers to Have Tough Time Getting Past Loughran Defence

Chicago, March 28—Smiling Micky Walker, middleweight champion of the world, battles Tommy Loughran, light heavyweight, in the new Chicago Stadium here tonight.

Even money is generally quoted here, with Loughran having the ever edge is given by the betting man. The difference in weight is not the main factor considered in giving Tommy of Philadelphia the advantage. Loughran's superior boxing skill is expected to prove the deciding thing.

The matter of weight does not mean a thing to Micky. He has Walker can hit. Walker, in spite of the 30-pound or so disadvantage in weight, is decidedly superior in hitting power.

And as Mickey is the type of battler who depends largely on furious offense to win fights, his ability to sock is an important asset.

It was thought at first that this young, hard-heavyweight slugger would weaken Loughran, that he might be comparative Loughran, however, trained carefully and took off the weight so gradually that as far as could be determined from his work it was not a detriment to his training, and general attitude. He was not suffering had no detrimental effect.

LOUGHRAN SMART

Loughran is one of the smartest ringmen of the present day, and his plan of fight calls for him to take the fight to his opponent with a barrage of left hand jabs, and to continue to pile up points or possibly go in for a knockout win.

Whether or not Loughran weakened, though, it is not at all likely that Loughran will try to carry his foe. Even a weakened inspire caution in any fighter, Mickey's right is not to be trifled with. And no one knows that better than Lou Loughran.

It should be a good fight. Walker's attack will force Loughran to fight back so that it can hardly be called into a mere boxing exercise.

The fans all will get a first class view of the war in the new Stadium. The immense structure, which seats 25,000 people, there is not a single view obstructing position.

If a capacity throng attends the contest, the immense stadium may be set up, with the gates opening over the quarter million dollar mark.

Harvard Baseball Team Soon to Start on Trip South

PITCHING SITUATION IMPROVES

Whitmore Working Out With Squad; May Pitch Opening Game

Harvard's pitching situation has improved a lot in the past few days' practice, and is in good condition for the opening game with B. U. on April 6 and the trip South which starts the following day.

Carmen prospects were very blue for a while, with the only good pitcher on the Harvard squad, Howie Whitmore, however, is back with the team and has been pitching better than ever. His control is a little better, but as far as the work on the mound, practice will be continued until the team is ready to start. Coach Mitchell will not pitch the Harvard squad until the first of the week, when he will pitch the first game at Boston.

One of the new pitchers, here at Harvard, is a young man, who is a native of the state. The value of the new pitcher, as a result of the practice, is that he is a young man, and that he is a native of the state.

companion an exceptionally smart girl. They are not at all blue and branny. Also they are scores. Individually, they are ranked with the best and as a combination playing unit, they are the best in the state.

The front line players of the New York team, the "Ducks," are a very good team. They are a very good team, and they are a very good team. They are a very good team, and they are a very good team.

John is a whole team in himself from a defensive standpoint. He is a wonderful inspiration to his teammates, who never fail to perform at their best when he is in action, and when teamed up with such a stellar player as Tuffy Abel, Chung has no equal. Also, it is a fact that John has been in for more effective work than any other player in the team, and he is being protected by John and Abel, as there is no likelihood of opponents getting in for close-up work.

Because the Braves are a team that play hard, the Braves are a team that play hard. The Braves are a team that play hard, and they are a team that play hard. The Braves are a team that play hard, and they are a team that play hard.

SHOOTS TO GOLF FAME

Horton Smith, spectacular 21-year-old Joplin, Mo., golf professional, blazed his way to a fine win in the North-South open golf tourney, just concluded at Pinehurst, North Carolina. Smith's score at the conclusion of the 72-hole grind was 287, a remarkable record. When one considers that he is but a youngster, and that he faced the members of the Ryder cup team, and some of the top flight amateurs of the world, his achievement appears even greater.

New Grid Rules Shown at Soldiers Field

There is much interest in the demonstration game which Harvard will stage Tuesday at Soldiers Field under the direction of Walter Owen, commissioner of officials in the East. Applications for tickets to the game are pouring in at the Harvard Athletic Club. Dr. Edward J. O'Brien, T. G. McCabe, Don Kelley and Bill Halloran will be the officials working on the event and it is hoped that the technique of officiating in football can be pointed out for the coaches and men who handle the games. There will be a demonstration on the new rules of the game and an effort will be made to instruct coaches in what players are permitted to do and what officials are to look for. The game is the first of its kind ever staged in football and if successful will be tried in other parts of the country.

TAD'S

MR. TOMMY LOUGHRAN, light heavyweight champion of this big, round world, meets Mickey Walker, middleweight champion of this big, round world in Chicago tonight for the light heavyweight title.

Loughran, strange as it may seem, would rather do anything than to fight a light heavyweight. Walker oddly prefers anything but a middleweight to box with. The latter has nothing to lose tonight and has all the better of the thing from the start.

He is a better biter, can enter the ring without being bothered about the weight, and has nothing to worry about even though he has his back knocked off. Loughran, however, is the owner of a tin chin. Strubling dipped him over the floor in his Franco fight. Emanuel, a notorious slapper, knocked him down in Los Angeles and Leo Loneli on him.

LOUGHRAN kept up, but he won't ALWAYS get up. He either has a weak potato tap or is very careless. He can't hit a lick himself. Walker would go into the ring wearing a high hat and it would be even money that Loughran wouldn't hit him hard enough to knock it off.

When Jim Jeffries retired because there was no one else to fight him, except Jack Johnson—and he didn't want to play with "Lil Artha"—the heavyweight business sort of a fight. Jim Coffroth had brought over Bill Squires from Australia and matched him to fight Tommy Burns. Thinking that the winner of that fight might be Squires, the promoter went to Los Angeles to see Jim Jeffries.

Coach Jess Dugas will hold a Brown varsity baseball squad, numbering 19 players, in Providence during the Easter recess. The list includes nine veterans and 10 sophomores, and that is the entire lot of men available for duty on the nine.

Dugas has drafted a schedule that calls for double workouts on each day of the recess, and plans call for a series of practice games during the close of the work. The drills will be held on the Thayer Street field until Aldrich field is ready, when the work will be transferred to the varsity diamond.

Two of the sophomores, upon whom much of the load of the battery work is expected to fall, face examinations during the recess, the outcome of which will determine their status for the season. McGee Exercises Louisville, Ky., March 28.—Jimmy McGee is back from Miami, Fla., where he is in a deal with the Boston Braves. McGee is a pitcher and is expected to be a valuable player for the Braves.

Little James puts plenty of life in the frame infirm. He's so anxious to come through with the campaign, that he's not even looking at the beach to the left hand park.

Every member of the Braves squad was at the game up at St. Pete. The squad has now been reduced to 31 players, and one or two more may go before Florida is left behind.

Helen Mueller thought he had a bunch run, when he was running, and she was running. She was running, and she was running. She was running, and she was running.

AFTER RECORD MARKS

Nick Carter, of the Los Angeles A. C., shown in this Associated Press photo, seeks to better some of the middle distance track records. He has defeated most of the present day stars during the past few years. Carter ran in the Olympic tryouts at Harvard Stadium last summer, but failed to win his race.

BROWN NINE IN HARD DRILL THIS WEEK

Providence, R. I., March 28.—Coach Jess Dugas will hold a Brown varsity baseball squad, numbering 19 players, in Providence during the Easter recess. The list includes nine veterans and 10 sophomores, and that is the entire lot of men available for duty on the nine.

SHEEHAN MAKES 3RD BASE JOB

Frank Sheehan, candidate for third base on Boston University's baseball team, continues to play the same brand of ball for another week that he has in the past few days. He will give Capt. McCarthy plenty of opposition for the honor of starting the Harvard game at the hot corner next week.

Sheehan is a Harvard boy. He started on his high school team prior to entering college. This is his first year out for the B. U. nine as he is a transfer student from Georgetown and was accordingly ineligible for the Pioneer nine last spring.

Sheehan's ability to cover the third sack in the field is easily on a par with that of the Pioneer under the ball on his rival. McCarthy, although not a 300 hitter, is a good man at the plate and especially dangerous in the penches. It is not at all unlikely that McCarthy may be used in right field in the event that Sheehan continues to improve.

The coaching assignment was divided between Gilie Rickard and Blaine, Al Bass and Bill Logg. This start of receivers look like the best receiving start to appear in the team in some time.

The pitchers enjoyed their first hard workout in a week and before season was finished every writer took his turn on the mound. Wever and Arthur Murphy looked particularly impressive while serving them up in batting practice and before they were through were throwing fast ones in mid-season form.

Both Wever and Murphy are fast ball hurlers and the two Wevers is the more effective as he has a good curve and splendid control.

Gregory, McCullough and Elliot, veterans of last year's nine, are fairly certain of their outside jobs. The coach of the other candidates show well with the bat they may have to fight for their place.

Jack Mitchell, Ben Currier and Jimmy Kilroe are the other boys in the fight for outer garden berths. Kilroe is the best fielder of the three, but he is none too good at the bat.

West Point, N. Y., March 28.—The Army football team, which is now on a tour of six different spots, Capt. James, head coach of the Army football team, is unable to hold some practice of any great importance.

Practically all the first string players from last season, including those who are to be graduated this June, are in lacrosse, baseball or football uniforms every afternoon. Athletic, policies continued by the military academy, en masse, to participate in as many sports as possible.

This policy is in variance with that of several other educational institutions which have ceased to have baseball teams because of the possibility of attracting football men away from spring practice.

Red Sox Rumbles

Bradenton, Fla., March 28.—The weather was so hot on Wednesday that Manager Carrigan didn't ask many of his regulars to take part in the practice contest. The result was that Heinie Wagner had to play third base for the Yankees to complete the side.

It was the first time in ten years or more that the old Sox shortstop had engaged in competition, yet he took care of everything that came his way, and shot the ball across the diamond better than several of the rookies.

He didn't attempt to go to bat, however. Charlie Ruffing spoiled him at the plate, and came through with triple and a single, which kept the Yankees in the game until the final frame, when the Red Sox rallied and scored.

Danny MacFadyen went the distance on the mound for the Red Sox. He was a good pitcher, and he was a good pitcher. He was a good pitcher, and he was a good pitcher.

Al Spencer is wearing a slight limp. He stopped a whipping foot pit with his knee and was nearly wrecked, despite the rather good Al has had his share of trouble this spring.

The final day at St. Pete also will be the last of the campaign. The tourists are going, and there is no more to be had from the beach to the left hand park.

Little James puts plenty of life in the frame infirm. He's so anxious to come through with the campaign, that he's not even looking at the beach to the left hand park.

Every member of the Braves squad was at the game up at St. Pete. The squad has now been reduced to 31 players, and one or two more may go before Florida is left behind.

Helen Mueller thought he had a bunch run, when he was running, and she was running. She was running, and she was running. She was running, and she was running.

Army Coach Unable to Hold Grid Work

West Point, N. Y., March 28.—The Army football team, which is now on a tour of six different spots, Capt. James, head coach of the Army football team, is unable to hold some practice of any great importance.

Practically all the first string players from last season, including those who are to be graduated this June, are in lacrosse, baseball or football uniforms every afternoon. Athletic, policies continued by the military academy, en masse, to participate in as many sports as possible.

This policy is in variance with that of several other educational institutions which have ceased to have baseball teams because of the possibility of attracting football men away from spring practice.

SWISS PROPOSE KIDNAPERS ARE BRENT TOMB

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, March 28 (AP)—Services in the Cathedral today for Bishop Charles Henry Brent of the diocese of western New York, were both American and international in character. At their conclusion Swiss churchmen suggested burying Bishop Brent in the crypt of the Cathedral. They believe this fulfills the bishop's desire to be interred where he died and that it would be a symbol of his international service. The bill's family would agree to this, it is believed here. Final decision depends on whether the Episcopal church in the United States prefers to transport the body to America.

Bill to Kill Boxing in Minnesota House
 St. Paul, Minn., March 28 (AP)—An effort to abolish boxing in the twin cities and Duluth has been made in the Lower House of the Minnesota Legislature. The bill calls for abolition of the State Athletic Commission, and in doing would abolish the statutes which now legalize boxing in cities of the first class.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 28 (AP)—The condition of "Big Benge's" arm is the chief worry just now on Manager Shotton of the Phillies. Bank Robbers Use Girl as Shield
 Indianapolis, March 28 (AP)—The East State State Bank was robbed of approximately $7000 in cash by four men, who escaped in an automobile after taking Miss Dorothy Edwards, 25, a cashier in the bank, with them for a half block as a shield against possible firing at them by bank employees.

2-Cent Cigarette Tax Law in Minnesota

St. Paul, Minn., March 28 (AP)—A bill to tax cigarettes and cigarette papers has been passed by the Minnesota House of Representatives and now is before the Senate. Should it become a law it would return an estimated revenue of $2,100,000, its sponsors said. The bill provides a tax of two cents for each package of cigarettes and one cent for every package of cigarette papers.

Tarkington Glad He Can't See All

Atlantic City, N. J., March 28 (AP)—A very interesting experience was the way Booth Tarkington, noted author, today had described his blindness of the last year. In a few days the novelist will return to Johns Hopkins hospital for a slight operation which he hopes will restore his sight. Being blind has its compensations, however, Tarkington points out.

Prohibition by Violence

It Gets Nowhere; Accomplishes Nothing; True Temperance Will Come Only Through Education

Illinois State dry agents have adopted war-time tactics in their fanatical attempt to enforce the Prohibition law. Result—a mother dead, slain in her own home; a father battered and bruised, in jail for defending that home; their nine-year-old son, who resented the mustard-gas and shotgun warfare that felled his father and killed his mother, "detained" because he bravely sought to avenge the indefensible killing of his mother.

One gallon of wine, it is claimed, was found in the home by the dry raiders, dignified in the news dispatches by the term "agents." And this home, according to these same agents and to their political chieftain, who rode to victory on a law-enforcement platform, was a speakeasy.

The husband and father refused to permit the agents to enter his home when they appeared claiming they had a search warrant to inspect the premises.

The husband probably had read, and had taken too seriously, that Article Four of the United States Constitution guarantees (or rather did before the Volstead and Jones Law era)

"the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures; and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized."

The courts have held that mere suspicion of a dry agent, out to make a record in "not probable cause."

Armed with mustard gas bombs, shotguns and revolvers, the dry agents surrounded the house and proceeded to force their way in.

The father, probably relying too strongly upon that same Article Four of the Constitution, met the invaders of "his castle" with a shotgun. He DIDN'T shoot. They DID.

The wartime tactics were part of a law-enforcement program by a State's Attorney three months in office.

Federal Prohibition officials denounced the Illinois warfare in no uncertain terms. Feeling ran high in official circles at Washington.

But they mounted no higher nor were they more intense than the wave of resentment that they sweep the nation as the facts become known.

This ferocious enforcement of law by methods of violence, injury, bloodshed and murder warfare seriously affects public decency. It accomplished nothing. In the end it will defeat the very goal it seeks to accomplish.

Human Nature, being what it is, NEVER will permit Prohibition to be jammed down its throat in this fashion!

True Temperance will come in this country only through education.

Congress Blues

Dewey Short Has 'Em

The young preacher-Congressman who appeared before Boston University's School of Theology asked the question, "Is America Truly Great?" and, for a youngster just about to begin his first term in the House of Representatives at Washington, took an altogether gloomy view of things.

America, said Congressman Dewey J. Short of the Fourteenth Missouri, "is rich materially, but this richness reflects a particular credit upon herself. America's supremacy in wealth, influence and power is due more to the misfortunes of other Nations than to American effort."

That will be news to most Americans, but it is quite true? Working the misfortunes of what other Nations are textile operatives working on part time and shoe workers considering a "revision" of pay schedules?

"We are rich materially, but how rich are we in the things of the spirit? Why are so many people unhappy, disgruntled and revolted by their daily tasks?"

We had not noticed anything special in that way, Brother Short, but if YOU were turned away from one of Gipsy Smith's meetings, and if the next night you tried with more than 20,000 others to get into the Centennial Flower Show of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, and enjoy a private view of its transcendent beauties, how would YOU feel?

On his way to Boston the Congressman may have been talking with citizens who dislike Uncle Sam's tax on EARNED incomes. They, too, have a right to be disgruntled.

We hope Mr. Short will like Washington. He should endeavor to keep his mind off Egypt, Greece, Rome and other "furrin parts" and concentrate on things near at hand, like a seat in the Senate.

When Food Was Food

Some of the Meals John Adams Had Are Interesting to Read About

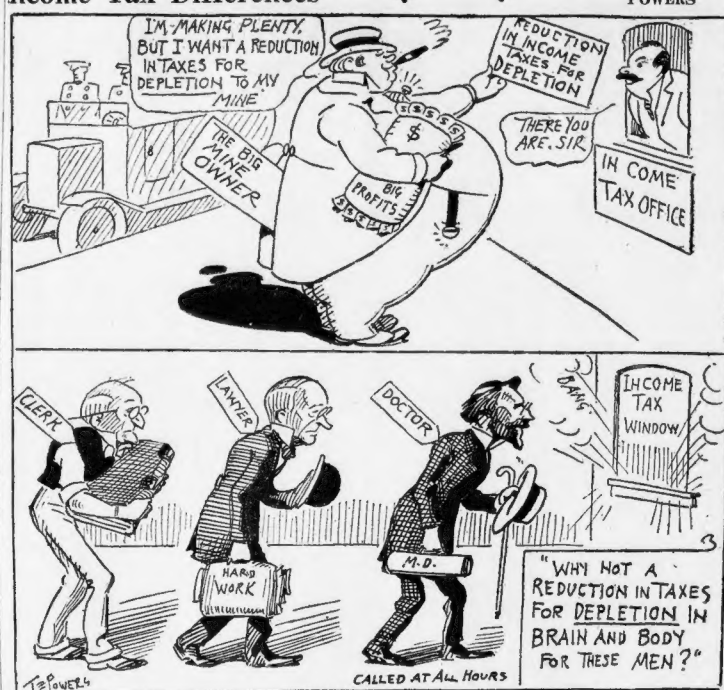

Nibbling a biscuit and at intervals sipping a frosted chocolate at a soda fountain, a litesome lass with wide blue eyes and bobbed blond hair read a newspaper with intense interest. Mentally noting the paper, page and paragraph, a reporter took the trouble to find just what held her attention, for, as he has been hinted, she was a very pretty lass. This was the story:

"John Adams, describes in his diary a few meals he had in Philadelphia, where it was nothing for a host to serve twenty to a hundred dishes at a dinner contrived to honor one's guest. At one such meal, he says, he had ducks, ham, chickens, beef, pig, cream, custards, jellies, fools (a compound of fruit acid and crushed, with cream), trifles, floating islands, beer, porter, punch, wine, etc."

So that is the way our young women retain robust health and the glow of youth without adding an ounce to their weight or an inch to their girth.

Nibble a biscuit, sip a drink and read of Gargantuan meals of flesh, fowl, fruit and wine! A psychic sort of banquet, calculated to stir the digestive juices and without any elegant after effects. 'Twill do no harm to try it yourself!

Income Tax Differences

Three-Minute Trips

By TEMPLE MANNING

THE traveler mooting through rural Serbia for the first time, or passing through on the little rumbling railway trains peculiar to the Balkans, will be struck by the apparent lack of modern methods in the daily life of the people.

He will see, for example, men using wooden ploughs, just as Isaac Abraham and Jacob did in Old Testament times. He will see women and children sowing maize and pumpkin seeds together. They hold the seed in their aprons, throw it into the prepared furrows, and tramp it in with their bare feet. When a Serbian farmer wishes to barrow his field, he cuts down bushes, weighs them with stones, and drags them across the land. It is an ancient method, but it seems to serve the purpose in a better way.

But in some respects the Serbians are far ahead of neighboring peoples. Local authorities tax the head of each family 300 pounds of grain each year. This is stored in a local granary and cannot be sold until the next harvest is gathered. Thus there is always a reserve store of foodstuff on hand in case of a shortage, and from this the farmer whose crop fails may draw to meet his needs. Socialism has not progressed beyond this point in any other country, no matter what its boasted state of civilization.

Serbian peasants, as a rule, have not the same love of color peculiar to other races in the Near East. They dress mostly men and women alike, in white and gray. The men wear knee-length, lined, light-colored shirts, and generally two vests, on the inner of which, nowadays, "love" usually is a chain with an American watch attached. The native costume is attractive when clean, but it does not keep clean for long. This, and the length of time necessary to do so, elaborate a dress, are reasons which are inducing many Serbians to abandon their traditional dress and wear trends of a cut similar to those seen in Paris, London and Kansas City.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Adversity is a medicine which people are rather fond of recommending indiscriminately as a panacea for their neighbors. Like other medicines, it only cures what it kills. There are nerves which it breaks, and nerves which it utterly shatters.

It is good to have money and the things that money can buy, but sometimes by transgressing, most truly kept the law—Milton.

One enemy can do more hurt than ten friends can do good.

Wonder is involuntary praise.

Men of most renowned virtue have sometimes, by transgressing, most truly kept the law—Milton.

Nothing is more silly than self laughter.

If you bear with the faults of a friend, you make them your own.

Illusions and wisdom combined are the charm of life and art.

I am a part of all that I have met.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHAT a disappointment we must be to children.

There is a picture before me on my desk.

It is the picture of a little lad of two.

His face is as eager as a little squirrel's!

You can see the tiny, shy Self of him standing tip-toe, peering out of his brown eyes, on watch for joy.

Life is such an exciting adventure to that tiny Self!

He feels so friendly to it all, so willing to take part in it!

And that friendliness and willingness is such a happy rush to grown ups.

He accepts Grown Ups with such loving confidence.

They are as strong—so wise.

They will explain the mysteries and go on adventures with him.

They will not cry—those Brave Grown Ups!

What a wonderful time he is going to have with Grown Ups!

All these thoughts twinkle and gleam from that little face gazing shyly, trustingly, eagerly at me across my desk—

And, meeting that gaze, I could hang my head.

For I know how terribly we will disappoint him!

He will know so soon how stupid we are—

How dull and lazy and selfish and unfair—

How cowardly and unkind!

He will expect us to sing songs and tell him about our adventures!

And we will expect him to dash gleefully forth to adventure—

And instead we will shut ourselves in closed rooms and play bridge or read stock reports and tell him to go away and not bother us!

And slowly, with bitter distinction he will realize that we are almost unable to get any fun out of life in spite of our strength and wisdom.

What a terrible disappointment we must be to children—

WONDER THAT THEY REMEMBER US!

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

"A WOMAN'S Souvenir" is a popular story, which will remain its popularity for a long time, because it awakens a host of memories in every man's breast.

In these days of rapid-fire love affairs and off-and-on marriages, you are among a man's "souvenirs" almost before you are aware that you are one of his current attractions.

You are a part of his "past." You before you can catch up with his present.

If an attractive woman should ever stop to count the men, among whose souvenirs she is numbered, she would have to take a day off and study higher mathematics.

Love affairs, like women's skirts and companionable marriages, are becoming shorter and shorter. It is always a shock to a sensitive woman to discover that that glamorous moment which she thought was "just the beginning" was in reality the beginning of the end.

A man's "Eternal Love" seldom lasts more than a moment, and almost before he is as far as the honeymoon. It lasts only until a newer or better woman comes along and interrupts him.

New York Daily Day

O. O. M'INTYRE

N. Y. City, March 28.—No other American city is so careless about life and the future as New York. It lives for the moment. Tomorrow is another day. And thus its growth and prosperity become a constant paradox. Problems that wrinkle brows elsewhere meet a shrug here.

The metropolis is known the world over as the City of Dreadful Debt, and deservedly. It has the spirit of the Ithaca hero "with the gift of laughter and a sense of the life is mad." That men threaten to bankruptcy are the greatest thing in the city.

There are doubtless many serious-minded folk to act as a ballast, but one rarely discovers them. It was a reminder of this frivolous contempt for things as they are in hiding, but voice the other day to a playwright. He had just $20,000 in a play that "didn't sell."

Yet with his remaining $4000 he was short of for Paris for a fling before settling down to work again—broke. That's the New York idea. Lose or job, debt, scandal have no special significance. The city forgets and the world remembers do not care. A tragedy, says Elsie Robinson, evaluates the big laugh here.

Every week or so one hears of gay parties celebrating the anniversary of marriage vows. And they are frequently attended by journalists, stock men, and other people who are not of the most popular sort, but are necessary to a well organized world.

The most spectacular of these parties is the one given by the New York City Police. It is a thing of the past, but it is still a thing of the past.
